E-Nabız: Developed by the Ministry of Health, it is a big data application that can be used by both doctors and patients. Patients can access much of their medical information created by hospitals about themselves. Doctors, when approached by patients or when unconscious patients are brought to the emergency room, can access health records created in other hospitals. If they wish, patients can require that a password be sent to the doctor's mobile phone for doctors to access their data (SMS verification). SMS verification during an unexpected visit to the emergency room can cause issues.

Here's the corrected paragraph with explanations for the mistakes:

Which of the following is true?

- a. The capital city of Turkey is Ankara. (Corrected: "Ankarra" changed to "Ankara." The capital of Turkey is indeed Ankara.)
- b. Lake İğdir is within the borders of the Russian Federation. (Corrected: "Igdir" changed to "İğdir." The correction includes using the correct Turkish character "ğ" and the correct spelling. The statement is now accurate if Lake İğdir is indeed within Russian Federation borders.)
- c. The capital city of Spain is Paris. (Corrected: "were" changed to "is." The corrected statement is still inaccurate; the capital of Spain is Madrid, not Paris.)
- d. Mediterranean Sea is a large sea between the North and South American continents. (Corrected: "Medireranean" changed to "Mediterranean," "betwwen" changed to "between," and "Nort" changed to "North." The corrected statement is still inaccurate; the Mediterranean Sea is between Europe and Africa, not the Americas.)
- e. The Suez Canal connects the African and European continents. (Corrected: "Canal of Suez" changed to "Suez Canal" for proper naming order. The corrected statement is accurate; the Suez Canal does connect Africa and Europe.)

- Please correct the mistakes in following question, and explain the grammar mistakes, do not correct answers:
- Which of the followings are true?
- a. The capital city of Turkey is Ankara
- b. Lake Igdir is within the borders of Russian federation
- c. The capital city of Spain were Paris
- d. Medireranean sea is a large sea betwwen the Nort and South America continents
- e. Canal of Suez is connects African and European continents

Please correct the mistakes in following question, and explain the grammar mistakes, do not correct answers

Which of the followings are ture?

- a. The capital city of Turkey is Ankarra
- b. Lake Igdir is within the borders of Russian federation
- c. The capital city of of Spain were Paris
- d. Medireranean sea is a large sea between the Nort and South America continents
- e. Canal of Suez is connects African and European continents

Sure, I can help with that. Here are the corrections and explanations for the grammar mistakes:

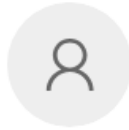

1. "Which of the followings are ture?" should be "Which of the following is true?" The word "followings" is incorrect because "following" is already plural. The word "ture" is a spelling mistake and should be "true".
2. "The capital city of Turkey is Ankarra" has no grammar mistakes, but there's a spelling error in "Ankarra".
3. "Lake Igdir is within the borders of Russian federation" has no grammar mistakes.
4. "The capital city of of Spain were Paris" should be "The capital city of Spain was Paris". The double "of" is a typo, and the verb "were" should be "was" to agree with the singular subject.
5. "Medireranean sea is a large sea between the Nort and South America continents" should be "The Mediterranean Sea is a large sea between the North and South American continents". There are spelling errors in "Mediterranean", "between", and "North", and the definite article "the" is missing before "Mediterranean Sea".
6. "Canal of Suez is connects African and European continents" should be "The Suez Canal connects the African and European continents". The phrase should be "The Suez Canal connects", not "Canal of Suez is connects", and the definite article "the" is missing before "Suez Canal".

So, the corrected question would be:

Which of the following is true? a. The capital city of Turkey is Ankarra b. Lake Igdir is within the borders of Russian federation c. The capital city of Spain was Paris d. The Mediterranean Sea is a large sea between the North and South American continents e. The Suez Canal connects the African and European continents.
